WOMAN'S LONG

Mrs. Niepag Wanders Away from Home-Found Later Nine Miles North of City.

After wandering from her home at 775 south Main street yesterday and being out all night, Cecelia Nelpag was found at a point nine miles northwest the city by Deputy Game Warden If the city by Deputy Game Warden Frank Rudy. Mrs. Neipag was missed yesterday morning, and since that hour her friends and relatives had been searching for her. When encountered she exhibited evidences of being tired out, but otherwise she was all right. Mrs. Neipag is 76 years of age and formerly lived at Riverton. It is believed by those who know her that the aged woman started out for her old home, but getting confused went in the wrong direction. She was brought back to the city this morning, and is back to the city this morning, and is now resting from the effects of her long walk.

PIANO FOR CHOIR MEMBER.

FIRE DEPARTMENT BUSY

Three Runs This Morning Brings This Year's Total Up to 298 Calls -Inspection Oct. 23.

The fire department has been quite ousy since the first of the year although there have not been many big fires. Up to date the department has responded to 298 runs and, in all probability, last year's record will be broken before Father. Time ushers in a new year.

At 2:05 this morning there was a blaze at the residence of M. E. Jones, 270 west South Temple street where damage was done to the extent of $100 on contents and $5 on the building. Mr. Jones dropped a lighted candle in one of the rooms but did not notice that sparks had set fire to the floor. He retired but later was awakened by smoke issuing from the room. An alarm was sent in and the apparatus from No. 2 responded and extinguished the blaze.

FORTUNE TELLER ARRESTED.

Demented Woman Taken by Police And Turned Over to Relatives.

Several days ago complaints were made to the police of a woman who posed as a fortune teller, and who, upon gain ing entrance to a liquise, for the purpose of telling "past present and future," managed to steal anything of value that struck her fancy. The woman worked the scheme at several restdences and the police looked in vain for her.

Yesterday afternoon word was received at headquarters to the effect that the woman had entered a residence on Fourth West between First and Second South streets, working the fortune telling graft. Detective Ed. Janney was sent to the place and found a woman aged 65 years, giving her name as Mrs. Walker. She was placed under a rest lker. She was placed under arrest taken to police headquarters. She I she resided at 443 south First West let, and when the officers searched room they found several minor arti-s which had been taken from differ-

cles which had been taken from different homes.

Shortly after the arrest a man who claimed to be a relative of the woman, but who refused to give his name, called upon Chief Pitt and explained that Mrs. Walker had been reading books on mind reading, fortune telling and kindred subjects until her mind had become somewhat deranged. He promised to care for the aged woman and have her sent to California. With this understanding the woman was released and today was sent to California. The articles she had taken were turned over to the police and Chief Pitt will, see that they are returned to their owners.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS

Twenty-Seventh Ward—A farewell reception will be given in the Twenty-seventh ward chapel, Monday, Oct. 12, 1903, at 8:15 p. m., in honor of Elder A. R. Homer prior to his leaving for a mission to Germany. Voluntary contributions received at the door. A program with the following taking part will be rendered: Mr. A. Sears, Miss Edna Hull, Misses Ethel Pratt, Hattle Coombs, Miss Florence Grant, Mr. A. Brewster, Mr. A. E. H. Cardwell, Miss Anna Myers, Miss M. Minerva Jensen, Miss Eva Dunyon, Miss Irene White, Elder Le Grand Richards, Mrs. Valeria Young, and Elder A. R. Homer. Young, and Elder A. R. Homer.

Twenty-First Ward-A farewell tes timonial will be tendered to Elder John 3. Tuddenham in the Twenty-first ward amusement hall Monday evening, Oct. 12, prior to his departure to a mission in Great Britain. A splendid program has been arranged in which the following will take part: Van Savage, Edna Hull, Laurinda Poulton, Carl Wenlg, Earnest Hoare, Mary and Ruth Taylor, McIvin Peterson, 12 children in a fairy dance under the direction of Stella Poulton, Don Carlos Wood, M. E. Cran-dall, Mamie Parry, Edna Morris and Elder Tuddenham.

Eleventh Ward-Mrs. Eleanor Jonson Reynolds, one of Salt Lake's fore-most vocalists, leaves next week for Germany, where she contemplates taking a thorough course in voice culture. She has for years been active in the social and religious affairs of the Eleventh ward—always willing to aid in the various entertainments for the benefit of missionaries and others. In appreciation of her services, her friends will give her a rousing testi-monial previous to her departure. Monday evening next, in the Eleventh ward assembly hall, a concert will be given, which will embrace numbers from the best vocal and instrumental talent in the city, among them being Mrs. Emma Ramsey Morris, Mr. Schet-tler, Lou Haslett, John Summerhays, Nettie Olsen, Margaret Caldwell, Miss Nebeker, Melvin Peterson, Alexander Crawford and Don Carlos Wood. Arrangements are in the hands of a competent committee, and no doubt the testimonial will be a great success. All are invited.

were in greater profusion and of highe standard than ever before. The agricultural products told many, many interesting stories. They showed why Utah's farms are the center of attention throughout the agricultural world. They told why and how Utah is winning cups, medals and ribbons wherever exhibits of products from her farms are shown. Whether it be a dry farm or an irrigated farm, Utah has the best. As proof I refer you to these exhibits, all around us. With new farms being put under cultivation daily and thousands of others just on the producing stage, next year's display in this line will be finer than I could describe now." escribe now.'

F. J. HENDERSHOT. F. J. Hendershot refers one to the exspapers of the past week for an pinion on the filoriculture and horti-ulture displays. And well he may, or judges, experts and ordinary morto: proges, experts and ordinary mortals with an eye for the source of the staff of life or for beauty in flowers, have fairly raved over these two derartments this year. "Both were complete, both held the finest raiseable!" is Mr. Hendershot's verdict and it is the echo of countless expressions heard in the alsles and chronicled in the press for the next five day. for the past five days.

F. J. HEWLETT. Frank J. Hewlett is an enthusiastic booster for home industry. He is the right man in the right place as supervsor of manufactures. His department is one of the central attractions of every fair, and this year it was more so than usual. Utah's list of factories is growing daly. Nowadays it is possible to get everything the ordinary mortal needs or can use from Utah sources. A stroll through Mr. Hewlett's department is a great lesson to the ordinary citizen and a convincing argument why everybody should patronize home industry. Whether it be a pair of shoes; something to eat or drink; something to wear or something to make the home comfortable—whether it is a necessity or luxury—Utah makes it! The money kept at home circulates at home and money in circulation is prosperity. "Why you Frank J. Hewlett is an enthusiastic circulates at home and money in circulation is prosperity. "Why you could shut Utah off from the rest of the world or vice versa and we'd go right along not noticing the difference," says Mr. Hewlett. "Now regarding this year's display of manufactures, you all know that this capacious building was not big enough. Many exhibits out in the open air should be in here, but there was no room. Perhaps next year will see this building filled entirely with exhibits really belonging in here. With new buildings to provide space for the educational and other displays now kept here, we will show ourselves in full glory. Utah as a manufacturing state is young, but oh, such a husky in-fant."

JOS. A. SILVER. Jos. A. Silver is supervisor of agri-Jos. A. Silver is supervisor of agricultural machinery and minerals, "The display of the former covers whole acres and needs no explanation," says Mr. Silver. "Mining interests have neglected putting in any show, but the wonder expressed by thousands this year has showed plainly that Utah's chief industry should have a big show. I believe next year will see a dandy. I hear talk of building a mining temple! Good, let's have it, for we need it and anything but the best for our mining interests is far from good enough."

TWO WOMEN WHO WORKED. TWO WOMEN WHO WORKED. The supervisors who do their work as no man could are Mrs. N. A. Empey, supervisor of womens' work, and Mrs. P. J. Riter, supervisor of the educational and fine arts displays, both extensive and important. "The educational display this year was comprehensive and received merited praise from all hands," says Mrs. Riter. "This department is acknowledged one of the most important and drawing in of the most important and drawing in of a new temple of learning for next of a new temple of learning for next year is music to every Utahn. It is to me and to everybody with whom I have conversed. The fine arts this have conversed. The fine arts this year were fine and showed what skill in all its phases there is in Utah."

"If there was a woman who visted the fair and did not stop to admire the beautiful creations of woman's skilful hands, I would like her to call on me and explain why," said Mrs. Empey. "I am sure no one will call for the women's work display this year was larger and certainly finer than any I've ever seen, and the same thing has been said countless times during the been said countless times during the week. Every year sees this department grow. The growth this year was perceptible to all. Wait until next year." next year.

THOS. H. SMITH. My department of fine horses saw more entries in this year and finer specimens than I dreamed could come from Utah, proud as I am of my state. And I think all who saw the fine big animals will agree with me, that the horse show this year would do justice to Kentucky, noted for its fine horses and beautiful women. I mention beautiful women because they go with Kentucky but the Blue Grass state has no monopoly on good looking girls for I have seen hundreds standing around in my department every day this week. No wonder the aristocratic animals held their heads so proudly. The judges from Utah, proud as I am of my state No wonder the aristocratic animals held their heads so proudly. The judges found it so difficult to choose among the animals that their decisions were later than ever before. I have heard the expression "They are all so beautiful (meaning the horses) that all deserve hibbons." This shows what care raisers in this state are taking with their stock. The day is here now what their stock. The day is here now when Utah can stand with any state in the breeding of fancy horse varieties. This year's horse show is conclusive proof. LESTER D. FREED.

"They off! Oh, I beg your pardon, it's grown to be a habit with me. Say, I'll leave it to you as to what ought to be said of this year's fine and fast horses. #### COURT NEWS.

BANKRUPTCY ADJUDICATIONS.

Judge Marshall of the United States district court yesterday adjudicated three bankrupt petitions in the persons of Emit Carlson of Mercur, W. J. Jones and W. W. James of Salt Lake. They were declared to be insolvent debtors.

A petition was filed by Alvin P. Anderson of Moroni, asking that he be declared a voluntary bankrupt. The schedule filed showed liabilities princi-pally for open account indebtedness to wholesale liquor and cigar dealers and breweries, in the sum of $1.549.24, and assets, consisting mostly of household goods and chattels claimed to be exempt, amounting to $103.36.

DISPUTE OVER COFFEE HOUSE. Thomas McQueen has filed suit in the district court against John McQueen, Daniel McQueen and Albert Richardson, asking for an accounting of the business of the Portland Coffee House. Plaintiff avers that he was one of the proprietors of the concern, and shared in its emoluments until August, 1906 when he was ousted against his will. In the complaint filed, McQueen at-tacks the validity of the transfer of the interests of one Charles Mayburn to defendant Richardson.

Thrugh the attendance at the Motor Parkway sweep stakes this forenoon was surprisingly small, the races themseives were good, and the outlook was for increasingly interesting work in the Nassau and Motor Parkway sweepstakes. The small cars of the former were doing spunky execution and elicited admiration. In the Star class the M-2 flashed by the grandstand meteorically. Herbert Lytle, in his Italian machine, flashed a lap in 22:17, approximately 61 miles an hour.

Should he maintain this average of speed throughout his total 250 miles he would surpass anything any Vanderbilt race has yet recorded.
